

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In the synthesis of frequency channel spacing in an RF transmission signal, a raster component of the desired frequency channel spacing is provided by an integer IF frequency synthesizer (44). Because the frequencies associated with the IF synthesizer are lower than those associated with an RF frequency synthesizer (48), the IF synthesizer can incorporate the desired raster using a lower feedback divisor (N) than can the RF synthesizer.

PRINTED IN U.S.A. 2009-01-20 10:30:00 AM